Executive Summary

Well, it will be enough to say that the ICO & IEO market is on its last breath. Even during the last two weeks of the January, it was raised less than a $1M that is totally horrifying about the market that used to raise tens of millions weekly. Thus, January has set the historically lowest bar in funds raised with its $21M and 6 project who have raised any funds. So, there is strong signal that the market is not rehabilitating yet and, moreover, turning almost flat. Thus to remember terrifying January, there were 105 ongoing projects where 53 were already completed and only 2 projects have raised funds during the last week. Being honest, these numbers are going in descending order as the train goes down the hill.

The projects of the last week have forced the average rating to decline to 4.2. However, based on the funds raised it was possible to allocate top-2 by the projects raised and top-2 by the counties raised as well. In addition, the IEO project PixelBit has raised over 65% of total funds raised in the week #5, the rest belong to the UlticoIn.

Thus, based on the projects that raised funds, Germany and Serbia take the confident lead among the countries who have raised funds in the middle of January. At the same time the projects Monnos and PointPay obtained the highest ratings of the week, 4.8 respectively. The Satt an Worldopo have broken the 27th week-mark of being leader by the amount of ratings.
